Narrator: It was a warm autumn afternoon when school let out. Ashley and Natalie walked across the sports field tossing a baseball. From out of nowhere, Tyler rushed up and caught the ball.

Natalie: Tyler, give it back.

Tyler: Why?

Ashley: Because that's the girls baseball and (laughing) we'll get cooties if you touch it! Give it back and go get a boys baseball!

Narrator: The girls started chasing Tyler around the grass when Alex ran into the mix and tackled him. Alex pulled off Tylers jacket and threw it to the girls.

Alex: Here! See what you can do with this.

Natalie: Thanks, Alex. Come on, Ashley. Let's go play ball and Tylers jacket can be home plate.

Narrator: With screams of delight, the girls race across the field tossing the ball and Tylers jacket back and forth.

Tyler: Hey, enough, okay? Truce?

Girls: (Laughing) O- kay, Tyler. Truce.

Alex: Hey, Ashley, why don't you be on my team and Tyler can be on Natalies team?

Ashley: What do you think, Natalie? Shall we split or shall we stick together?

Natalie: Together! YES! AND the girls team WILL WIN!

Ashley: Okay. (Calling) What game do you want to play, Tyler?

Natalie: How about “Take Away?”

Tyler: Yeah! Yeah! Let’s play “Take Away!” It’s a sure win for the guys team!

Narrator: Tyler and Alex started throwing the ball while running across the field. The girls were chasing them, leaping, darting and reaching high to get the ball. Alex decided to throw a fast ball. Suddenly, Ashley fell to the ground and ...
